

Executive Brief: Talent Wiring™ - Value it Brings to You

The Big Picture

Business owners face many decisions on the daily. “From regulations and supply chains to hiring and retention. There are proven ways to increase employee engagement, reduce churn and develop teams that succeed and propel your business to new heights.

When people are placed in roles that differ from their innate wiring, their performance may be as lessened as opposed to when they are properly aligned. Everyone can function temporarily in roles and situations that are challenging; when it is the “norm”, this becomes a stress point leading to risk for both the employee and the company.

Our belief: When people are wired right for the work they are assigned, teams thrive, productivity increases, and businesses grow with seemingly effortlessly.

FACT: iWorkZone has cases where we have reduced turnover by over 20% in under 90 days.

Our Point of View

At iWorkZone, we recognize talent alignment is more than behavior. It’s about understanding a person’s thinking style, interests, decision-making — and the factors that form how they function. It’s imperative for a leader to recognize and leverage this – both for the team member and the business. The way people are designed to think, decide, and grow is your key to a competitive difference and ultimate success. This is our Point of View: match the wiring to the work, and you unlock potential at every level.

Solutions Suite that Interlock

- Talent Wiring™ – See how individuals are innately designed to succeed.
- IntegriScreen+™ – Identify risks early with validated screening.
- Cadence Response™ – Listen to your frontline and act fast.

Proof & Trust

We are happy to discuss how we have served businesses and individuals over the years. Drop us a line, or set up a call, and we will share success stories that apply to your business segment. We have worked with luxury automakers, hospitality, senior living, retails – and many, many other business types. There is one consistent metric: The iWZ Science Works Regardless.

Let us partner with you.

Schedule a 15-minute call or request a demo to see how Talent Wiring™ can transform your business.

Contact Information: info@iworkzone.com